

Every synagogue should have a security and emergency planning committee

The committee should:

work closely with your House, Building and other committees;

work to strike a balance between the need to be a warm and welcoming institution with the need to keep your stakeholders safe; make plans for a variety of hazards; and have its own agenda – keeping your stakeholders safe.